

Professionals Breaking the Silence Learning Session

Wednesday, 27th March 2019, 10.00am-1.00pm

Rhymney Room, Ty Penallta, Parc Tredomen, Ystrad Mynach, CF82 7PG

NSPCC Cymru/Wales are holding an interactive learning session for professionals across agencies to share best practice of recognising, listening and responding to disclosures made by children and young people, and we would like you to join us!

As part of a research project carried out by the NSPCC into children's disclosure journeys, young people told us "I never went and asked for help, but no-one ever asked me".

We have developed a practical resource that will support adults to interact with children and young people during a disclosure conversation and will help to increase confidence in dealing with disclosures. We are grateful to Welsh Government for their support in producing the resource and delivering learning sessions across Wales.

In our activity-based workshop, you will have an opportunity to hear about cutting-edge research on children's experiences of disclosing abuse, and the development of an important resource for professionals which will launch in Wales and the UK in early 2019, as well as being involved in shaping the next steps for the project.

If you work with children or young people within any of the following professions, we would like to invite you to apply for this session via the Gwent Safeguarding Booking System:

Education professionals

Social Workers and Social Care Professionals

Youth Worker

Police

Health professionals
